Favors Public Work Program Over Plan To Cut U. S. Taxes

Economy-Minded Senator Declares Most Democrats Believe Same Way

Washington — (AP) — Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) said today he believes most Democrats in congress prefer a sound public work program instead of tax cuts to combat the business slump. Byrd, a leading economy advocate in congress, made it clear that he would favor more spending to tax reductions if the economy does not turn upward and the choice of alternatives must be made. "To some extent there will be wasteful spending in accelerating public works," he said. "But I am confident the majority of Democrats in congress would rather follow that course than to reduce taxes now."

President Eisenhower, who has delayed any decision on taxes, asked congress yesterday for an emergency appropriation of $125 million to speed up river and harbor projects and $46,200,000 for hospital construction.

Opposed to Tax Cut White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the request for the funds, to be spent in the year beginning July 1, was aimed at helping lift the level of employment. Congressional approval of the request was regarded as a foregone conclusion. Amid indications that Eisenhower will postpone any final decision on taxes until some time in April, Byrd said it was his understanding that any reduction proposals would be advanced on a bipartisan basis. Byrd said, however, that he has gained the impression that

Secretary of the Treasury Anderson is opposed to a tax cut at this time. The administration is holding up any decision on tax reduction until it can find out whether the unemployment situation improves this month and until it can determine whether anti-recession steps it already has taken are having the desired effect. Meanwhile, the senate has turned back a drive by some of its members for quick cuts in personal income and excise taxes.

Speculate on Agent's Death

Army Asserts Slain Man May Have Been Poisoned in Tokyo

Tokyo — (AP) — The U. S. army said today one of its intelligence agents whose body was found floating in Tokyo bay may have been poisoned after handing his insurance policy to his wife and disappearing. Master Sgt. Emmet E. Dugan, 39, of Srafton, Pa., left his wife Feb. 4 in a Tokyo hotel with the policy and personal papers, saying: "If I don't return, you'll need these."

His body was found last Wednesday five weeks later. The army said there were indications he was dead before hitting the water more than two weeks ago.

Japanese newspaper speculation ranged from the possibility that Dugan was murdered while investigating Chinese communists in Japan to a Japanese police report he had been undergoing psychiatric treatment.

As usual, the army maintained a tight silence on Dugan's work as an intelligence agent, but a spokesman termed Dugan "a fine soldier" and denied he had any psychiatric troubles. The infantry veteran had finished Chinese language training last year and was assigned to an intelligence unit for the first time.

The army said Dugan and his wife, Maud, came to Tokyo Feb. 4 by train from Camp Zama near Yokohama. The sergeant had received a pass to visit the capital.

Chamber Boss Says Recession Is 'Half Over'

William McDonnell Elected President Of Commerce Group

Washington — (AP) — The new president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce believes the recession is about half over and will be cured "primarily in the market place rather than on Capitol Hill."

He is William A. McDonnell of St. Louis, a well built man of 63 who has a genial manner and keen sense of humor.

McDonnell, board chairman of the First National Bank of St. Louis, was elected chamber president yesterday after serving as secretary of the nationwide business organization. He takes over on April 29 from Philip M. Talbot, Washington department store executive.

Talking with reporters after his election, McDonnell summed up his views on the business slump.

"Panicky" Cures Frowning on what he called "rash" or "panicky" cures which might be inflationary, he called for:

1. Labor and management to get together and "put an end to this wage-price spiral."
2. A $3 billion cut in individual income and corporation taxes to give business some incentive to risk expansion and to increase the "creative energies" of the people.

McDonnell said if "we do not do anything rash, we ought to be coming out of this recession some time next fall." He said the recovery will be gradual, not abrupt. Speeded-up public works spending, he added, might do some good but the "benefits are overrated."

Former Sheriff Convicted on 9 Counts by Jury

Waukesha — (AP) — Mike Lombardi, former sheriff for Waukesha county, Friday night was convicted on nine counts of misconduct and neglect of duty.

Lombardi, visibly shaken when the circuit court jury returned verdict, was suspended as undersheriff last March prior to the opening of a probe of vice and corruption in the county.

Judge Herbert A. Bunde ordered Lombardi's bond continued at $2,000 and said he would hear defense motions on May 2, at which time he could also impose sentence.

Lombardi, who pleaded innocent to the six counts of neglect of duty and three of misconduct, faces a maximum penalty on each count of $500 fine, a year in the county jail, or both. The jury deliberated for four hours and 20 minutes.

Robert P. McGraw, Lombardi's attorney, indicated he would probably appeal the conviction to the State Supreme court.

Chinese May Release Kenosha Pilot Monday

Seoul, Korea — (AP) — The communists have called a meeting of the military armistice commission for Monday, possibly to hand over a U. S. fighter pilot shot down March 6 by red ground fire over the Korean demilitarized zone.

The UN command said the communists gave no reason for calling the meeting. They agreed at a commission session last Monday to return the pilot, Capt. Leon Pfeiffer of Kenosha, Wis., but they did not say when.

Request Comes on Heels of Statement Rejecting Plan To Discuss Eastern Europe

Moscow — (AP) — Russia proposed today the creation of a UN organ for international cooperation in outer space and suggested it be considered at the proposed summit conference. The plan was part of a 4-point program for the conference, including a ban on intercontinental missiles and the liquidation of U. S. bases ringing the Soviet Union.

It was advanced on a Kremlin statement. The program is essentially the same as the Soviet position outlined previously by Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party Secretary Nikita Khrushchev.

The statement was issued at a news conference after Khrushchev in a speech last night pressed again for a summit meeting but sharply rejected western proposals for a discussion of the status of Eastern European nations. He warned Russia would block any attempt to tamper with Eastern Europe.

Four Points The Kremlin statement accused the United States of seeking control of outer space and trying to ban intercontinental ballistic missiles (ICBM) while refusing to discuss the abolition of foreign bases.

The ICBM threatens the United States, the Kremlin said, while U. S. nuclear weapons and foreign bases threaten the Soviet Union.

Under these conditions, it said, the only solution would be simultaneous prohibition of both. The Soviet proposal included "adequate international control" of the provisions of the agreement.

The Kremlin proposed these four points:

1. Prohibition of the use of outer space for military purposes and an undertaking to launch rockets into outer space only in accordance with an agreed international program.

2. Liquidation of foreign bases on territories of other countries, first of all in Europe, the Middle East and North Africa.

3. Establishment within the framework of the United Nations of adequate international control to supervise the commitments contained in point one and two.

4. The creation of a UN organ for international cooperation in outer space research which would fulfill the following functions:

Peron Says He Wants Nothing

Denies He Backed Winner in Effort to Return to Argentina

Buenos Aires — (AP) — Juan Peron denies that he supported successful presidential candidate Arturo Frondizi in the Feb. 23 election in hopes of regaining power in Argentina.

From the victory of Feb. 23 we have no booty to claim," the ousted dictator wrote to his supporters here. They made public last night two documents bearing Peron's signature and dated March 5 in Ciudad Trujillo, where Peron is in exile.

Peron ordered his backers to vote for Frondizi on the basis of "ethical motives which took into account the national interest and not a proposition of conquering any portion of public power," he wrote.

The votes of Argentine citizens still loyal to the former dictator 24 years after his fall were believed by many to be the decisive factor in the election of Frondizi, an intransigent radical.

Shortly after the election there was considerable speculation here that the Peronists would demand payment for their help but Frondizi has avoided being faced with direct demands. He takes over May 1 from a provisional government.

Peron advised his followers not to take part in street demonstrations. "I ask the workers for their wholehearted dedication to the liberating gesture which should start in this new stage," when Frondizi takes office, he wrote.

Leopold Arrives In Puerto Rico

San Juan, Puerto Rico — (AP) — Nathan Leopold arrived today to begin a new life after serving more than 33 years in prison for the thrill slaying of Bobby Franks in Chicago.

"I am exceedingly happy to be here," the 53-year-old Leopold told representatives of a hospital where he will work at a wage of $10 a month.

Reading from a statement, Leopold spoke in Spanish of "your beautiful and lovely island of Puerto Rico."

"As you can see," he said, "it is not easy for me to say what I want to say in Spanish."

Senator Says Kohler Hearing Is Dragging Unnecessarily

Probe Might Continue on Into April

Washington — (AP) — Sen. Ervin (D-NC) said today the senate hearings on violence in the Kohler strike are dragging unnecessarily.

Sen. Curtis (R-Neb), another member of the senate rackets investigating committee, said he thought "we're making hay" and that the testimony would move a little faster in the coming weeks.

Robert F. Kennedy, chief committee counsel, has predicted the hearings would run well into April unless the questioning of witnesses moves at a faster pace. The hearings already have lasted three weeks. They were in recess today until Monday.

No Sign of Break The committee is trying to determine whether the Kohler company, Wisconsin makers of bathroom fixtures, or the United Auto Workers union (UAW) is to blame for violence in the 4-year-old strike.

The UAW called the strike on April 5, 1954. It is still going, with no sign of a break in sight. The company is operating with nonstrikers and new employees.

Ervin told reporters he believes witnesses are being asked the same questions over and over. A former judge himself, he said "no court would ever function like this."

He said the inquiry "is being unnecessarily drawn out. A question should be asked once, and then we should proceed." Curtis, also a lawyer, said he thought the pace would pick up, but that in any event "the hearing has established a volume of evidence about violence that provides helpful legislative information."

Box of Documents He said he disagreed with Kennedy's guess that the hearings might last another four weeks. Curtis said he didn't want to see any witness "foreclosed" but that the inquiry "should move along. We have business in other fields, too."

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark), clearly irked by the recent slow pace, reserved comment.

Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich), long a critic of UAW President Walter Reuther, went before the committee yesterday as a volunteer witness. He brought with a big cardboard box full of documents, and scores of photographs.

Rebels Claim Victory in Sumatra Airfield Battle

Broadcast Says 100 to 150 Government Paratroopers Killed Near Pekanbaru

Singapore — (AP) — A rebel broadcast said today from 100 to 150 Indonesian government paratroopers were killed Wednesday in an attack on Pekanbaru's airfield in central Sumatra.

A communique broadcast from the rebel capital of Bukittinggi made no mention of renewed fighting around Pekanbaru, an American oil center. Rebel sources in Singapore had said their forces went over to the attack at Pekanbaru yesterday.

The central government earlier this week said the air field and Pekanbaru were captured without difficulty and the nearby oil fields were quickly overrun.

The rebel communique, signed by Col. Dahlan Djambek, the rebel interior minister, gave a different picture.

The communique said the government's paratroop attack on the Caltex oil center in central Sumatra was preceded by the strafing and bombing of two B25s and four fighters. "Twenty-two transports flew in the paratroopers, who were met by withering rebel fire that killed between 100 and 150 invaders," it said.

No Reinforcements The communique said that after paratroopers cleared the airfield, troop transports landed with an additional battalion.

It said attempts by the central government forces to send three warships packed with soldiers up the Siak river from the east coast failed in face of withering fire from shore batteries.

"Until Friday no reinforcements had arrived for the Pekanbaru invaders," added the communique.

Djambek said 600 paratroops took part in the Pekanbaru drop and that today 300 Jakarta troop reinforcements were landed in the Pekanbaru area.

Much Like War Patrol At the end of the journey the engine and two of the nine cars plunged off a dock into the water. Hamilton said a check of the engine showed that it will need a new $30,000 motor.

The train was parked in the yards here with the power unit idling when the crew went to breakfast. When they returned an hour later the train was gone.

Son Slays His Mother; 'Couldn't Sleep' With Her Body Under Bed Moundsville, W. Va. — (AP) — Police said a high school freshman told them "he had a hard time sleeping some nights" after killing his mother and stuffing her body under his bed.

Dean Smith, 15, admitted the slaying in a written statement, according to Troopers H. E. Robinson and Jack Scaggs.

The officers said the boy confessed to striking his mother, Mrs. Grace Wims, 39, with a hatchet when they were alone in the family's trailer home last Saturday.

The crime was brought to light yesterday when a neighbor discovered the body under the bed.

"I don't know why I did it," Smith quoted Dean. "Somebody just came over me."

U. S. Sub Prowls Atlantic Hunting For Craft Reported to be Russian

BY ELTON C. FAY

AP Military Affairs Reporter

Aboard Nuclear Submarine Seawolf—Somewhere in the sea around this atom-powered submarine may be a Soviet sub, lurking in deep waters off the Atlantic coast.

The Seawolf has been given the job of trying to find that Russian submarine, if it is there.

War Patrol It's the first time the navy has ordered an atomic undersea craft to conduct what is very much like a war patrol.

When the Seawolf started out from port, it was headed for a routine training cruise. But an order, radioed to the sub a few hours after it sailed, converted its mission into a hunt for an unidentified submarine—or submarines—believed sighted in this area.

There would be no great surprise if this search eventually should identify the reported World War II, sits at the nerve center of the search. This isn't the first time such major powers roam far. If searches have been conducted, they stay outside the territorial waters of a nation and commit no hostile act it would be difficult to drive them away or take action against them.

Since about 1950 there have been repeated reports of sightings of unidentified submarines off the east and west coasts of the United States.

In recent days, there was a fresh flurry of such reported sightings. At Washington, the navy said, without elaboration, that naval vessels had been sent out to check on the reports.

Mares Produce won three lines from Outagamie Produce and Service Motors won a 3-liner from Reis Store. Price Insurance won three lines from Farm Bachelors. Leisch won two lines from Ollie's which was led by Harold Rieckmann's 212-single and Ollie Kloehn's 200-single.

Harold Muskevitch led the juniors with a 215. Bobby Stein hit a 200 and Arrian Herminath shot a 195. Team one won a 987 to 654 decision over Team two.

The adults also held a baseball game and Claire Baehman's team won a 6-3 decision over Del Palmer's. Shirley Pellet hit two home runs for the winners.

Second Session Of Shot Clinic Starts Monday

Clintonville Grade School First on Inoculation Schedule

Waupaca — The second in a series of county-wide inoculations against whooping cough, diphtheria and tetanus will begin Monday at the Rexford school in Clintonville.

All the clinics except the Clintonville and Weyauwega ones offer protection for children from four months to 12 years of age. Clintonville and Weyauwega offer shots for children of school age through 12 years.

The difference is due to a recent County Medical society decision to use the clinics for school age children only. Those clinics offering infants vaccinations do so at the request of the city nurse.

Clinic Schedule
The schedule is as follows: Clintonville's Rexford school, Monday from 9:30 to 11:30; Manawa elementary school Tuesday at 9:30; Marion city hall Tuesday at 2 o'clock; Waupaca High school Wednesday from 9:30 to 11:30; Iola High school Thursday at 9:30; Weyauwega elementary school Thursday at 2 o'clock and New London High school Friday from 9:30 to 11:30.

Any child who missed the first shots may take two of the shots at the remaining clinics and obtain the third from his family physician.

Booster shots and vaccinations are also available for any child who completed the series more than two years ago.

The American Legion at 39

The American Legion is observing its thirty-ninth birthday today. There are other dates that might have been chosen as the birthday of the Legion since the organization did not spring into being at one session. It was the product of many meetings and many months of planning.

The first mention of such an organization is believed to have been made in a conversation between Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., then a lieutenant colonel in the AEF, and William Patterson, then a sergeant, while they were convalescing from wounds in a Paris hospital during the summer of 1918. Again the date might have been Feb. 15 and 16, 1919, for that is the time of the first meeting at which there was formal discussion of the organization.

The February meeting came about because at that time 20 National Guard and Reserve officers representing 10 infantry divisions, the S. O. S. and other organizations were in Paris to meet with officers of the regular army to plan some way of making the AEF less unattractive to the men who were in France awaiting transportation home. During this session in Paris, Col. Roosevelt invited them to a dinner at the Allied Officers club and it was at that dinner meeting that the plan for a veterans' organization crystallized. The men at that meeting became a committee to spread the word throughout the AEF that a caucus would be held in Paris on March 15, 1919 for discussion and development of the plan.

There were 1,000 at the meeting in the 'Cirque de Paris, including officers and enlisted men. Here the committees were organized and the business of organizing the Legion was under way. A final caucus was held in St. Louis May 8, 9 and 10. There the constitution of the American Legion was adopted and the machinery set up for the formation of a permanent organization. The Legion was chartered by an act of Congress Sept. 16, 1919 and its first convention was held in Minneapolis Nov. 10, 11 and 12 of that year.

Why Pedestrians are Killed

The American Automobile association comes up with the rather startling figure that nine of every 10 pedestrians killed in traffic accidents do not hold drivers' licenses; undoubtedly most of them do not even know how to drive an automobile. The reason, of course, is that a large percentage of pedestrians killed are children and old people.

The AAA makes the point that people who have never driven often are not aware of an automobile's capabilities and limitations; of the various distances it takes to stop an automobile from various speeds, for instance, or of the limitations on a driver's vision under certain conditions. Undoubtedly this is one of the reasons why children and old people tend to become pedestrian traffic victims, although surely the more important reason is the simple fact that they tend to be less attentive to all kinds of danger.

And yet, like befuddled lovers, we must admit appreciation for the tastes of spring: the eyebrow pencil and lipstick of greenness showing through the grey snow patch-

Baseball Directors Too Optimistic?

Editor, Post-Crescent:

To some of our optimistic baseball directors:

That is what we'll have to call you. I believe, though, that not all of you are as optimistic as what your plans are for the future of baseball in Appleton. It sounds like the stands are going to overflow and the money will just roll in to pay for what you are going to do to Goodland Field.

Sure, this park definitely needs some fixing up, but I can't see the need of moving the playing field back and adding box seats to the already large seating capacity. Remember, your operating expenses are going to be big—players' salaries and operating personnel, traveling, housing, insurance, lights, bats, baseballs, meals when out of

Residence Laws Create 'Lost Citizens'

From a letter by an Illinois welfare worker, published in "Wisconsin Welfare"

In one case the family with three children had lived in Wisconsin 15 years, came here three months ago and the husband lost his job. Since Illinois also has a 1-year residence requirement they are not eligible for assistance here for nine months and if they go back to their former home in Wisconsin 15 miles away as they would like to do, they have no way of getting assistance while they can get reestablished and find employment,

From the beginning the American Legion devoted its time and energy to the welfare of the men and women who had served in the armed services in World War I. With nearly five million men and women leaving the services to find their places again in civilian life, the Legion had a tremendous task to perform. Its work was well done. The job was something new for the nation, and the experience gained by the Legion in working with the World War I problems was to prove helpful again after World War II and after the Korean struggle. On each occasion the rules of the Legion were changed to admit those who had served, on the same terms as those who were admitted after the first war.

Perhaps one of the crowning achievements of the Legion was the adoption of the so-called G. I. Bill of Rights by Congress after World War II. This measure is probably the greatest piece of legislation in the behalf of servicemen the world has ever known.

The Legion always has stood for what it conceives to be the best interests of America and the defenders of America. It believes the two go together and "that you cannot foster patriotic services without also fostering a high appreciation of them." On occasion national or state officers or committees have gone overboard in this field of action, and have received well-deserved criticism. However, in general the Legion has done a fine job. We all appreciate patriotic services when the battle is raging, but most of us quickly forget that service when the danger is past.

The Legion has kept up the good work in war and in peace. Just as the men who fought the nation's battles came from all sections of the country, so the American Legion is known in every city, town and hamlet. In many places it is the only fraternal organization, but it also flourishes where organizations are so numerous they overlap.

undoubtedly are effective in cutting down accidents involving pedestrians. But the final, long-range answer in our opinion must be to separate the automobile from the pedestrian. Some communities are making a start in this direction; the "downtown mall" idea is one way, elevated speedways are being built in some urban areas, Chicago is considering walkways between downtown buildings at the second-story level. Until such things become common, we do not see much chance of materially lowering the pedestrian accident rate.

It was this thinking that caused the Post-Crescent to suggest last year that a tunnel be built under Lawrence street connecting St. Joseph school and St. Joseph church; the designation of Lawrence street as a 1-way thoroughfare caused us to believe that such an action was necessary to protect the children who must cross that street several times a day. We notice that a police officer now is stationed there during peak hours and that is a good idea, but we still think a tunnel would be worth the cost.

es, the mascara of running streams, the perfume of a soft wind and the gentle breath of the sun warm at last on the face. The soft lilting bird song — perhaps it is only a startling — but it trills of tulips and green leaves and spring.

Not only the romantic are ready to be fooled. Such a stern rationalist as John Locke wrote long ago. "It is vain to find fault with those arts of deceiving wherein men find pleasure to be deceived."

town, umpire fees, etc. Estimate all of the above and then ask yourself, "Are we not a little optimistic?" Sure you will get some revenue from concessions. How will this compare with expenses?

I am very much in favor of the kind of baseball we are going to have, but I can't see spending all this money and not knowing if you'll ever get it back.

Let's give it a try for a while. Then, if we have a team that plays good baseball, I'm sure the fans will fill the stands. Then move the playing field back, add box seats and maybe there will be money enough to put a roof over our heads.

until they live there a year. Thus a Wisconsin resident, for all but three months in over 15 years, finds himself in no man's land.

This one case shows how ridiculous residence requirements are as a requirement for public assistance. Illinois is not any better than Wisconsin but how can a state cut off residency in a shorter period than it takes to become a resident in that state. Who do they expect will care for these lost citizens?

World Poll Sees 1958 Economic Outlook as Good

France, Italy, Britain, Japan Not So Positive

BY ELMO C. WILSON
Director, World Poll

There is considerable optimism around the globe about the material prosperity 1958 will hold. In fact, for many the promise of 1958 is brighter than the performance of 1957.

Roughly half of the public in all countries (between 40 per cent and 60 per cent) judge that they are financially in about the same position today as they were a year ago. But in some countries — India, Norway, West Germany, Canada, Austria, Belgium and Brazil — the proportions who feel their lot has improved exceed the proportions who feel it has worsened. In other countries — France, Britain, Italy and Japan — those who feel things are worse for them now than a year ago are more numerous.

French Pessimistic

The situation in France is especially critical, with almost half the people rating their present material situation as less good than the situation a year ago.

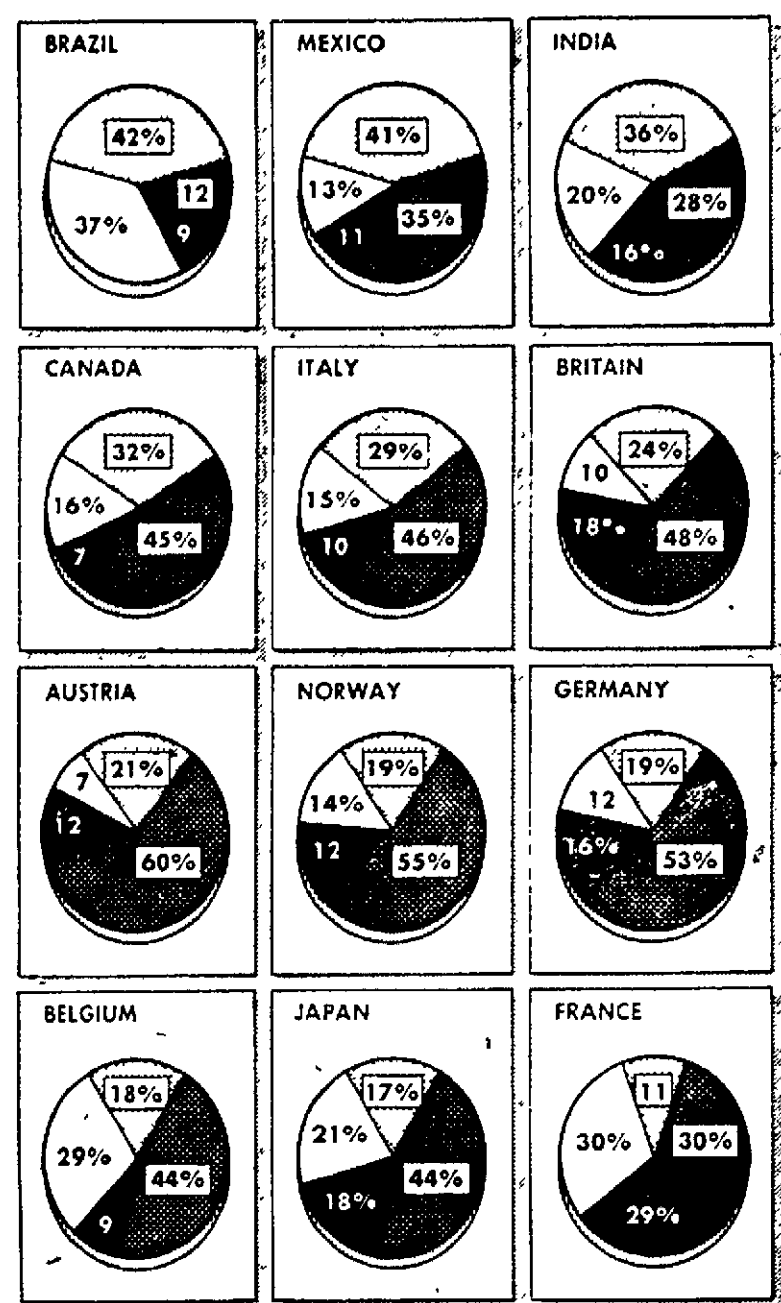

Only in Mexico is the proportion who see improvement in their lot exactly equal to the proportion who see deterioration.

"Are you better off materially now than you were a year ago at this time, worse off, or about the same?"

Professionals Hopeful

In nearly all countries, executive and professional families have been the most favored economically; farmers and workers for wages have fared worse in the last year. Canada is presented below as typical of the way economic conditions have affected the various occupational groups:

Few referred in their discussions to the effect of political events on their economic expectations. Especially interesting is the fact that the possible impact of any economic downturn in the United States was not mentioned at all in any country.

"Are you better off materially now than you were a year ago at this time, worse off, or about the same?"

	Better Off %	Worse Off %	About the Same %
Executive, professional	53	6	41
White collar	34	15	51
Wage earner	22	24	54
Farmer	22	32	46

Majority Optimistic

The outlook for next year is considered brighter in all countries except France and Japan. Proportions ranging from two out of ten to four out of ten expect their personal financial situation will be improved a year from now, while the proportions who think it will be worse are smaller.

Again, only in France do the people foresee an outstandingly bleak year ahead. The cumulative effect of the Algerian war and a runaway inflation has evidently taken its toll of the French public's purse.

Many Can't Guess

As one would expect, in many of the countries polled, sizeable numbers were unable to venture a guess about future economic conditions. And large groups felt their personal situations would be unchanged.

Interestingly, non-European nations were most optimistic about the immediate future. An optimistic evaluation was made by roughly four out of ten in Brazil, Mexico and India.

"A year from now, do you think your material situation will be better, worse, or about the same as it is now?"

	Will be Better %	Will be Worse %	Will be Same %	Don't Know %

Those who feel their position remains and will remain unchanged are likely to be pensioners or people whose salaries have gone up, but whose expenses have risen as well. This is revealed in the fact that respondents who say they are worse off or fear they will be next year usually explain their condition in terms of inflation which is decreasing the buying power of their pension or salaries.

Those who say they are better off than a year ago, or who believe they will be better off next year, talk in terms of natural progress. Some also mention relief from commitments — children now old enough to support themselves, etc.

Missiles Demand Impossible of Machines, Metals

Chicago — Since we already know so much about missiles, why don't we have an IRBM or an ICBM?

If we can build a rocket that will travel 600 miles, why not just build parts a little larger and make a larger rocket?

For one reason, today's large missile system contains a million and a half parts, and getting them to work together is a problem of astronomical proportions, says Paul Lieberman, associate research engineer at Armour Research Foundation of Illinois Institute of Technology.

A homespun comparison is provided by the electric razor and the radio, he said. They work well individually, but not together.

"If a rocket were composed of only 500 parts which worked properly 999 times out of a thousand," he said, "the unit's probability of success would still be only 6 out of every 10 runs."

Planes Are Doomed
But Lieberman, who lectures on propulsion systems in a Chicago space travel series being given by Foundation scientists, is optimistic about rocket development.

The airplane is approaching its last days as the "prima donna" of the defense system, he believes. Delta wings and needle-nosed airplanes no longer represent the future.

"Just as the Model T-Ford, the harbinger of the hot-rod era, was absorbed by tradition, so too, the Mach 2 airplane will lose its glimmer in the wisp of Mach 15 missiles."

However, before that day comes, many problems remain to be solved. Among them, Lieberman lists such items as these:

—For minimum weight, the missile propellant tanks must be paper-thin, but still withstand loads imposed by the throbbing and shock forces encountered in ground shipping and free flight.

—Some of the tanks must contain highly corrosive nitric acid, while others must withstand the contractions caused by liquid oxygen refrigerated at minus 298 degrees Fahrenheit.

—Powerful turbines must attain tens of thousands of revolutions per minute in a fraction of a second, while centrifugal and temperature forces permit but a few minutes lifespan for the turbine.

Demand on Pumps

—Pumps driven by the turbine require high rotational speeds to move more than a half ton of propellants a second for a large missile.

—Valve design must be perfect. If there is any error in timing the accumulation of fuel can cause an explosion.

—Likewise, the system for spraying propellants into the combustion chamber must be perfect. (And research is hampered by the $10,000 price tag on a single injector for one large missile during the development phase when economies of mass production are not permitted.)

—Heat liberated upon reaction requires that 5600-degree-Fahrenheit flames be contained by walls that lose their structural strength at 1200 degrees Fahrenheit, presenting complicated cooling problems.

Put these and many other problems together and you have some of the headaches of today's missile makers, Lieberman said.

"While the turbine winds up to thousands of revolutions per minute, and a half ton of propellants move through the system each second, 300 - pound - per-square-inch pressures appear in the motor components."

This sudden surge causes transient vibrations that are violent enough to shake the rocket to pieces if they are encouraged by the inherent instability characteristics of the propellant lines, injector, and chamber, he pointed out.

And adding to this, combustion instability which appeared in rockets long ago still remains a crucial problem for the rocket engineer. Combustion in a rocket motor never is perfectly smooth, he said, and there are a wide variety of pressure fluctuations, a few of which seem to contain the punch needed to set off a particular destructive resonant condition.

These are among the reasons why the tasks of developing IRBM and ICBM missiles have not been overcome, and why it usually takes six years for a missile to become operational, Lieberman said.

However, it is only a matter of time before the unique problems of missilework will be solved, and before the dreams of science fiction writers come true.

"Technically and politically, the climate for development is proper, and most of us will see the space age in full bloom."

Crescent Chides Post Viewpoint

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of March 15, 1879.

It is somewhat absurd for the Appleton Post to advocate the purchase of Telulah Park for a public park and at the same time use the argument in favor of purchase that the city could largely compensate itself for the outlay by charging for the use of the track for races.

Well, if we are to have a free park, let it be free in reality as well as name. Then again, we question the propriety of the city engaging in the horse-racing business.

Chamber Backs Appleton for State Study of Delinquency

The Appleton Chamber of Commerce's board of directors has urged Gov. Vernon Thomson to use Appleton in the proposed juvenile delinquency prevention project.

According to announced plans the state, with private funds helping, would send a 10-man staff into the city for a 3-year study of delinquency problems and ways to solve them.

Appleton would be a good choice for the study, the chamber directors said, because it is both "small town" and "metropolitan" in character and near the center of the state.

Appleton citizens, they said, realize the importance of the problem and are willing to cooperate.

Although Gov. Thomson strongly urged the program, the legislature last year was reluctant and provided only $42,000. Welfare officials say several hundred thousand dollars are needed. A large private foundation which had been approached and which had expressed interest has said its rules will not permit participation.

There is some hope, however.

Beauty New Technique in Home Permanent

BY MARIAN MATTHEWS

Every time there's a new advance in the technique of home permanents, you feel it just couldn't get simpler. But now comes the end papers which really might be considered the "end." Built right into them is the waving lotion which automatically eliminates this step. Because it regulates the exact amount of lotion, it is most efficient, too.

With a new season at hand, there's the urge to do something different with your hair. A new permanent is often the foundation for a change of coiffure and new shorter hair styles make it easier to handle for many busy women when there is a permanent.

Good advice when starting your home permanent is to first read all directions—keep them handy while you're working. Shampoo hair and if you use the type with new waving lotion papers for winding, you can begin while the hair is quite wet.

Section off the strand of hair to be rolled and slide end paper close to scalp and then down back to the end of the strand where it is rolled up with the hair.

Sliding the paper over the length of strand starts the lotion working. Roll hair up tight to scalp or lower according to your hair style. Leave on rollers for 15 minutes. Rinse with water while hair is still on curlers; then wrap head in towel—curlers still in place—and wait 30 minutes. Next neutralize the wave as directed, mixing water with the neutralizer and filling the applicator bottle with nozzle top. Apply to each curl and then remove curlers immediately. Pour neutralizer once more on hair so that you successfully reach all ends. Rinse with water and you are ready for your setting.

The home permanent may be combed and brushed once it is completely dry.

America's Foremost Biographer

Sympathetic, Uncomplaining Mate Asset to Woman Writer

BY DOROTHY ROE

AP Women's Editor

Want to know how America's foremost woman biographer got that way?

"I studied to be a concert violinist," says Catherine Drinker Bowen, recipient of the 1958 National Book award for her best-selling biography of Sir Edward Coke, "The Lion and the Throne." "Then I married a college professor who hated music, but who needed help with his own research. He started me writing and I've been at it ever since."

Mrs. Bowen, tall, tweedy and breezy, is the author of four previous biographies. Her latest book, on the life and times of an Englishman who set the stage for the American revolution, completes a trilogy which has brought American history to life — "Yankee from Olympus," a biography of Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes and "John Adams and the American Revolution." But she disclaims any academic plaudits as a historian. Says she:

"I didn't learn any history in school at all. I hated all the dry lists of names and dates. It wasn't until I started digging into the lives of people who made history that it dawned on me they were real people, much like ourselves."

Singing Pines Club Has Safety Program

Talks on gun and headlight safety were given by Russell Boers and Larry Weber when the Singing Pines 4-H club met at Woodlawn school this week.

A hayride is being planned as the club's March social event, with Elizabeth Huetli as chairman.

Student Has Role

Bowen Keller, son of Mrs. Ruth B. Keller, 211 N. Drew street, who is a sophomore at Carleton college, Northfield, Minn., is a member of the chorus for Jacques Offenbach's 3-act comedy opera, "La Vieille Parisienne" to be presented this evening by the college glee club in the school's chapel.

instead of just names in books."

Mrs. Bowen lives in Bryn Mawr, Pa., is the mother of a grown son and daughter and has two grandchildren. Throughout her adult life she has written books with one hand and raised her children, run her house and helped her husband with the other.

"I was 50 years old before I finally got things arranged so that I didn't have to do any actual housework and cooking," says she. "Now I wake up every morning giving thanks that I don't have to wash any diapers today."

Mrs. Bowen says that when she starts casting about for a subject for a biography the first thing she looks for is a man with a long life. All three figures in her recent trilogy lived to be octogenarians.

"After all," says she, "you can't really get your teeth into a man's life, no matter how famous he is, if he ups and dies after a few years."

This renowned author considers a sympathetic and uncomplaining husband the most necessary asset to any woman writer.

"If your husband objects, you have to either quit writing or quit him," says she. "What else can you do?"

Mrs. Bowen firmly believes any woman's career is largely influenced by her husband.

"I started writing because my husband practically forced me into it," she says. "If I had married a gymnast I probably would have been right out there on the flying trapeze."

An Around-the-World trip

The POWER of FAITH

Jerusalem—It Was Twilight. I walked in the Garden of Gethsemane.

A green-headed lizard stood motionless on the grey trunk of an olive tree which may have been a shoot of one that shaded Christ in His agony. The air was moist and dungscented. A cricket chirped. Two Arab women came and drew water from the well. The sky turned from red, purple, blue to grey. There was the soft clatter of donkey hoofs and, in the distance, the yelp of a dog. Then it was dark and a single star appeared. There were deep, diffused shadows in the Garden. The top of the foliage was tucked with silver.

Save for the modern sounds of the highway, this might have been like the night when Christ prayed, Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from Me; nevertheless not My will but Thine be done." (Matt. 26:39) (AP Newsfeatures)

POST CRESCENT News of the TWIN CITIES Neenah - Menasha

Handicapped Aid Grows From 7 to 55 In Last 10 Years

Easter Seal Society Seeks $3,500 To Maintain, Expand Facilities

Neenah — Maintenance and expansion of existing facilities for the handicapped of Neenah-Menasha will be provided with proceeds from the month-long campaign of the Wisconsin Easter Seal society currently being conducted in the Twin Cities. The drive began last week and closes on Easter.

Mrs. T. R. Neely, chairman, said today in discussing the growth in scope of the society's activities that the local unit has grown from five volunteer workers in 1948 to 14 in the current year.

In 1948 only three children and four adults received assistance while in the last 13 months 65 children and 90 adults were given aid at a cost of $3,368. The 1958 campaign goal is $3,500.

Four children received hospitalization and treatment, three children were receiving physical therapy, drugs totaling $250 were purchased and a large number of both children and adults received corrective shoes and braces. In addition, a wheelchair and special wheelchair ramp were furnished.

Six Attend Camp
Financial assistance was provided for the shut-in picnic and Christmas party for Neenah-Menasha handicapped and six local persons were provided with therapeutic vacations at Camp Wawbeek at the Wisconsin Dells.

A donation of $100 was voted the Fox Valley Sheltered workshop, a non-profit facility of offering employment and training to handicapped individuals.

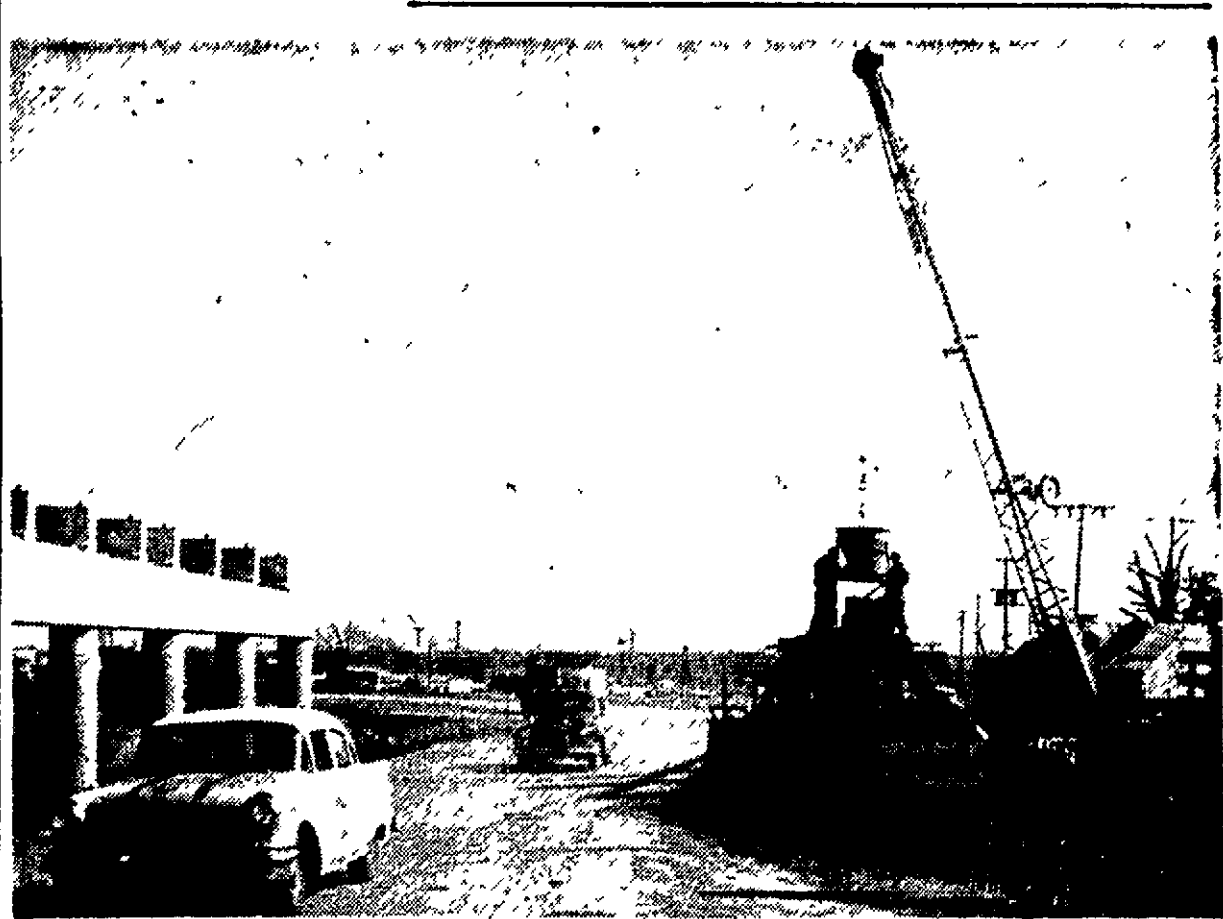

Three Forfeit to County Police

Oshkosh — Three Twin City and Appleton motorists were among the 16 persons who forfeited a total of $440 to Winnebago county police during the last week for traffic violations. The money was turned over Friday to municipal court.

They include: Robert W. Willes, route 2, Menasha, $15 for speeding in the city.

Naomi Thomack, 663 Winneconne avenue, Neenah, $15 for arterial violation.

Chester L. Wachowiak, 2500 S. Jefferson street, Appleton, $15 for illegal parking.

Concrete Piers are Being Erected in the middle of Highway 114 west of Neenah as part of the Highway 41 relocation. Highway 114, an extension of Winneconne avenue, is being lowered at this point and will be widened so that traffic will move on both sides of the center pier being erected in the above picture. C of C Congressional Action Committee Not Pressure Group

Neenah — "Our committee is not a pressure group," George Cameron, co-chairman of the Neenah-Menasha Chamber of Commerce congressional action committee emphasized at a committee meeting Tuesday morning at the Valley Inn.

In outlining the responsibilities of the committee, Cameron said "we should guard and school ourselves against one human weakness usually found in any letters or recommendations sent to our representative in Washington. By that, I mean selfishness."

In analyzing the problems before the committee, Cameron urged the group to recommend measures for the good of the whole country, and not just for the welfare of their own community, industry and personal business.

"In my opinion," Cameron continued, "little can be accomplished to improve efficiency in government and reduce taxes until people of all groups are willing to sacrifice and give up services and benefits which seem important and necessary to them."

"I hope this group can think along those broad lines and not become a part of another pressure group," the co-chairman declared.

Committee member John Galloway also gave a report on his study of recent developments in the government's agricultural program.

Neenah — "The Cub," student newspaper at Neenah High school has been awarded a first place rank by the Columbia Scholastic Press association, it was announced today.

The award was made in recognition of content, makeup, headlines and other phases of publication procedure. "The Cub" also received a first place award in 1957 and a second place rank in 1956.

The NHS newspaper was the only school paper of its size in the state to receive the first place ranking in the national competition conducted by the association, a division of Columbia university. It was entered in the same division as other senior high schools with printed newspapers of 751 to 1,000 circulation.

Judging was done by a board of school press authorities in New York. A 1,000 point system was used, and papers scoring between 850 and 1,000 were given the first place ranking. The exact score of "The Cub" for the nine issues submitted will not be known until official notification of the award is made, Miss Janice Grill, the newspaper's adviser, said today.

In 1957 "The Cub" also scored first place with 903 points on several 1956 issues. The issues submitted this year included four from April to June, 1957, and five from the beginning of the current school year through Dec. 10, 1957.

Other state high school newspapers to receive first place rankings were "The Cardinal" of Milwaukee South Division High school, which was also ranked as medalist, "The Washington Scroll" of Milwaukee Washington High school, "The Purple Parrot" of Green Bay West High school and "Shorewood Ripples" of Shorewood High school.

Brigade Rifle Teams Compete At Milwaukee

10 Boys to Fire; Girl Shooters Also To See Sport Show

Neenah — Two Boys' Brigade rifle teams will compete in the junior rifle matches at the Milwaukee Sport show March 23 for the 10th time in as many years, Jack Casper, Brigade co-ordinator, announced today.

The two five-boy teams qualified for the state-wide competition by firing targets on their own range and mailing them to the show headquarters.

A girls' team just missed qualifying by two ranks.

Members of the "A" team are Ronnie Larson, Bennett Hilliker, John Lenz, Bill Rueger and Winn Zimmerman. They fired a team aggregate score of 683, which ranked them 21st among the 75 teams participating in the postal match. The first 38 teams will compete in Milwaukee.

The "B" team includes Tom Hanson, Dale Howe, Ervin Luebke, Fred Blank and Bill Johnson, who fired a team score of 696, ranking them 18th. In the "B" competition 26 teams from throughout the state will take part.

A girls' squad made up of Susan Madden and Barbara and Nancy Zeumer barely missed qualifying for the "B" competition, being ranked 28th. Another girls' team, including Gail Peterson, Barbara Law, Connie Newton, Judy Nelson and Janice Lee also fired a postal round.

All four teams will travel to the annual show, which is held in the Milwaukee Arena, as guests of the sponsors. Only the two boys' teams will fire, however.

The youngsters will go to Milwaukee in Brigade leaders' and parents' cars.

Red Cross Nears 75 Pct. Of 1958 Campaign Goal

Donations Total
$10,215; Seek
$3,600 More

Neenah — Nearly 75 per cent of the Neenah Red Cross 1958 goal has been collected, according to Frank X. Hochholzer, Red Cross campaign chairman.

Collections through this week total $10,215. The goal for this year is $13,815.

Hochholzer, in urging Neenah residents to put the drive "over the top" pointed out that funds collected locally go toward the continuation of such programs as home service, which provides grants and loans to veterans, servicemen and civilians where no other agency assistance is available; Grey Ladies, to which 18 local women donated almost 1,800 hours in 1957; and the chapter bloodmobile program, to which 31 Neenah persons donated more than 940 hours of their time last year at five bloodmobile visits.

American Red Cross funds have been depleted because of the high incidence of floods, tornadoes and other disasters in 1957, Hochholzer said. The National Red Cross is seeking $95 million to replenish its disaster funds and to continue to provide the usual Red Cross services.

Driver Arrested After Accident At Neenah Corner

Neenah — A driver was arrested at 7:10 Friday evening after his auto collided with another at N. Commercial street and Forest avenue. Arrested was Henry H. Kuchenbecker, 57, 318 Church street, who was charged with making an illegal left turn.

His car collided with one driven by Judith A. Liebman, Green Bay, as he was turning left on to W. Forest avenue. He told police that he didn't see the other car because he was talking to a passenger at the time.

In another accident at 6:52 Friday evening Bert Remmel, Cedarburg, suffered cuts on his forehead when he was thrown against the windshield of a car driven by Donald A. Blaney, Sr., 38, 636 Lakecrest drive, Menasha. The accident was at First and Lincoln streets. Remmel was able to walk to Theda Clark hospital for treatment.

Blaney's car collided with one driven by Miss Ruth Ann Wolf, 202 Third street. Both were driving south on First street when Miss Wolf stopped to turn left onto Lincoln street. Blaney said he didn't see the other vehicle stop or signal the left turn. Miss Wolf said her blinking signal was operating.

Boys' Brigade Parents Night Set April 14

Sixth Graders to Begin Practicing For Annual Event

Neenah — Sixth grade members of the Boys' Brigade will begin practicing Monday night for the annual "Parents Night" production on April 14, Jack Casper, Brigade co-ordinator, announced today.

The "Parents Night," an annual Brigade feature for the mothers and fathers of the sixth grade members, this year will include a play comparing the lives of Indian boys with modern youth.

Also on Monday the ninth graders will see a movie, "Play Ball, Son," as a continuation of their sports and sportsmanship theme. Arrangements are being made for a representative of the Fox Cities' Foxes to speak to the boys and answer any questions.

The tenth graders Monday will complete their study of safe driving with a film, "The Why of Auto Lubrication." A review of what the youngsters have learned in the last three weeks on driving will take up part of the hour.

The seventh and eighth graders Tuesday night will study the third phase—social development—of the full life stressed by William H. Danforth's book, "I Dare You!"

Characteristics of Quick Breads Demonstrated at Homemaker Meetings

Neenah — Characteristics of quick breads are being discussed and demonstrated at Winnebago county homemaker club meetings this month as the topic "Quick and Easy" is presented by project leaders.

Outside appearance of this type bread should be well proportioned, evenly rounded or flat on top, an evenly browned tender crust and light in weight for size.

A medium fine crumb and nuts or fruits evenly distributed, as opposed to a coarse inside appearance with nuts and fruits settling to the bottom, should mark the inside of the bread.

Among the breads being made are scones. The recipe requires two cups sifted flour, three teaspoons baking powder one tablespoon sugar, three-fourths teaspoon salt, one-fourth cup butter, two eggs, one-half cup light cream or milk, and tart jelly or jam.

Preparation Sift together the dry ingredients. Cut in butter with a pastry blender until the mixture looks like coarse meal. Beat the eggs well and combine with the cream. Reserve two tablespoons for topping. Add the egg mixture to the flour mixture all at once. Stir only until all the flour is dampened.

Turn out on a lightly floured board. Pat or roll out to a rectangle about six inches by twelve. Cut in three inch squares, then cut each square diagonally. Place on a greased baking sheet about one inch apart. Brush with the egg mixture and sprinkle with sugar. Bake at 450 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes or until brown. The recipe makes 16 scones. Serve hot with tart jelly or jam.

Apricot Twists To make apricot twists, prepare the scone recipe dough. Pat or roll the dough into a rectangle 12 inches by eight and about one-half inch thick. Combine two tablespoons melted butter, one-fourth cup flour, one-fourth cup firmly packed brown sugar and one tablespoon light cream, and spread lengthwise over half the dough. Fold over the other half, cut in one-inch strips, crosswise.

Pick up the strips by the ends, give each two twists and place on a well-greased baking sheet about one inch apart. Bake at 425 degrees for 15 minutes.

St. Patrick Theme Planned for Three Week End Parties

Neenah — "The Wearing of the Green," which will be universally observed on Monday is a custom originally begun by Irishmen as a symbol of their undying gratitude to the memory of the Emerald Isle, St. Patrick. The event will be observed in the Twin Cities this weekend with several parties. The great saint was born in Kilpatrick, Scotland, in the year 387. When he was only 16 he was taken prisoner by Irish marauders and sold to a high priest as a slave where he remained for six years. During that time he learned the Celtic language and when he escaped he fled to the coast where he boarded a ship for Britain.

Upon deciding to devote his life to religious work, he visited the monastery of St. Martin at Tours where he spent 18 years. Later he visited his former master and is believed to have converted him and his family to Christianity. The remainder of Patrick's life was spent preaching, building churches and performing miracles.

Traditions

Many traditions and mysteries have surrounded the observance of St. Patrick's feast day. Although he is believed to have driven the snakes from Ireland, Cardinal Moran, who wrote about St. Patrick for the Catholic encyclopedia, said only that he was besieged by crowds of demons in the shape of vultures and they all drowned in answer to his prayers.

Another legend holds that he banished all the reptiles except one old serpent who refused to leave. St. Patrick then built a box and urged the stubborn creature to enter. He in turn refused and said it was too small. Then Patrick persuaded the old snake to enter the enclosure to prove his viewpoint, and when he was inside, St. Patrick fastened the box and threw it in the sea.

The shamrock, widely recognized as a symbol of the holy trinity, was used by the bishop to explain the belief of the trinity to the Irish people.

Always observed outside the church, St. Patrick's day societies were originated early in the history of the United States. In 1737 the Charitable Irish society was founded in Philadelphia and four years later a similar group was begun in New York by Irish Catholics and Presbyterians. The ancient Order of Hibernians traditionally celebrates the day with a gigantic parade.

'Auld Sod'

At a dinner of the Irish Fellowship club of Chicago in 1910 a piece of the "auld sod" had been imported from Ireland for the guest of honor, President William Howard Taft, to stand on while he spoke. However, a florist had been entrusted with the sod and souvenir hunters had left little of the treasure for the big event. President Taft was finally presented with a small piece of the dirt as a keepsake.

In the Twin Cities celebrations will be underway this evening when the Menasha Elks club has a smorgasbord and dance at the club. On Sunday the Menasha Eagles Aerle will sponsor a dance from 8 to 12 o'clock at the Eagles club and Monday evening the Sons of Erin are staging their 13th annual St. Patrick's day party at the Club Terrace. President of the group is Ray Murphy.

Help Children Spend Wisely, Advises Agent

Oshkosh — Children need to start learning how to handle small amounts of money at an early age, says Miss Lois Kusmeyer, county home agent.

Help the child to plan his spending and saving. When children begin to receive an allowance, they often spend the "extra money" foolishly. After they have been accustomed to having a set amount, they learn to use it for worthwhile things.

Earning money can be a good experience for children as it gives them a feeling of independence, points out the home agent. They can earn by doing extra duties around the home. As a child grows older, the allowance can be increased to cover such items as clothing.

Angels' Dilemma

Illustrated by Plays

New York — The latest example of the difficulty in picking a Broadway winner to back is provided by the Theater guild's productions of "Sumner of the 17th Doll" and "Sunrise at Campobello." Prospective investors were eager to back the first, a hit from Australia and London, but reluctant to support the other, a drama about Franklin D. Roosevelt's struggle against polio. After the shows opened, however, the FDR play became a boxoffice smash. The show from Australia got only so-so notices and closed after 29 performances.

Words often misused: "Medically - proven" ingredients seems a favorite radio and television commercial expression. However, it is grammatically wrong. The correct expression is "medically-PROVED."

Often mispronounced: Guiana (British, Dutch or French). Pronounce gee-ah-nah, accent second syllable.

Often misspelled: A female animal is "spayed," not "spaded."

Synonyms: Silent, close, dumb, mute, reserved, reticent, taciturn, uncommunicative.

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours."

Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's word: promulgation; the act of making known, published, declared; often, official.

"The members anxiously awaited the promulgation of the church's stand on the issue."

Agent Urges Caution in Buying Seed

Some Varieties Not Suitable for State Climate, Diseases

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — Suggestions for the purchasing of vegetable garden seeds were given today by County Agent Vernon W. Peroutky.

Just because the seed is in a packet is no assurance it will grow well in this area, he warned, because many varieties are not adapted to Wisconsin growing conditions.

Those who freeze vegetables need to be doubly concerned with the variety they plant. His office has a recommended variety list available to anyone seeking suggestions. Other varieties than those on the list also may be all right if the grower has found that variety does well in his garden in the past.

Saving seed from a garden crop was not advised by the county agent because diseases and crossings of variety often result. Seeds left over from last year should be stored in a cool, dry place.

Common vegetable seeds usually are good for three years. Parsnip, sweet corn, salsify and onion seeds rapidly lose their germinating ability and may be worthless in one year.

Wisconsin recommended varieties are developed to be resistant to the diseases common to this area. Also, these varieties are of a maturity which will ripen in this climate.

Home Landscape Design Reflects Owner, Group Told

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — The design you give your home landscape reflects you, George Ziegler, landscape architect of the University of Wisconsin college of agriculture, declared at a home owners meeting in the courthouse lounge here this week.

You should plant for a purpose, he advised and cited as an example that if a person likes birds, he should plant shrubs and trees that will attract birds.

In some instances, people overdo their planting, he continued, particularly in the field of flowers. It probably is a good thing summer does not last forever and that the flowers are killed by the first killing frost. Otherwise many people would lose their enthusiasm for landscaping.

Trees Basic

Trees and corner plantings around the home and maybe border plantings are basic. From there your ideas will change through life, which also is a good thing, Ziegler mentioned. He urged planting trees of a recognized variety and following the rules for shade and framing of the home site. Visualize how high the tree will be when it is full grown, he cautioned.

He emphasized that plantings should be secured from local nurseries where you can see the plants growing and can judge if it is something the person will like. Members of the county fruit and garden growers association also attended the meeting.

Man, 20, Says He Stole Two Cars in City

Confesses After Arrest
For Drunken Driving;
2 More Autos Taken

Appleton police are holding a 20-year-old Appleton man who has admitted theft of two cars in the city Wednesday night.

Meanwhile, two more cars were stolen and abandoned shortly afterwards, bringing the total auto thefts since Wednesday to seven. That's nearly the total for an average winter month, police said.

The 20-year-old was stopped for drunken driving after he ignored a red traffic signal at Appleton street and W. College avenue and drove to a nearby parking lot where he stopped his car and turned out the lights. Police followed and arrested him about 1 o'clock this morning. The car which he was driving was not stolen.

Two More Thefts

After questioning by an Appleton detective this morning, the man admitted stealing a car owned by Alvin T. Gilbertson, 2000 S. Oneida street, taken from Gilbertson's home and abandoned at N. Drew and E. Atlantic streets, and a car owned by Mrs. Lyle Gerhart, 714 N. Durkee street (a block from N. Drew and E. Atlantic), and abandoned at 2200 W. Spencer street. The Gerhart car was abandoned in the area of the 20-year-old's home.

The man has denied any other auto thefts, police said.

A car owned by James Cross, World's Only Fully Automatic Cleaner ELECTROLUX A. L. PREMESBERGER Dial 3-0796

1221 N. Drew street, was reported stolen about 1:30 this morning from Soldier's square. It was found by police about 3:15 this morning at N. Appleton street and W. Glendale avenue. The keys were not left in the car and the thief must have crossed or put a jumper on the ignition wires, police said.

A car owned by William J. Ollia, 521 N. Wood street, was reported stolen between 8 and 11 o'clock Friday night from Soldier's square. It was abandoned in the parking lot of St. Joseph Catholic school on W. Washington street about 12:40 this morning. The ignition keys had been left in the car, police said.

Two Old Steam Locomotives Placed in Museum

Green Bay—Two steam locomotives—reminders of the era of the smoke-belching Iron Horse—were shunted into the National Railroad museum/Friday by a Diesel switch engine of the Green Bay and Western Road.

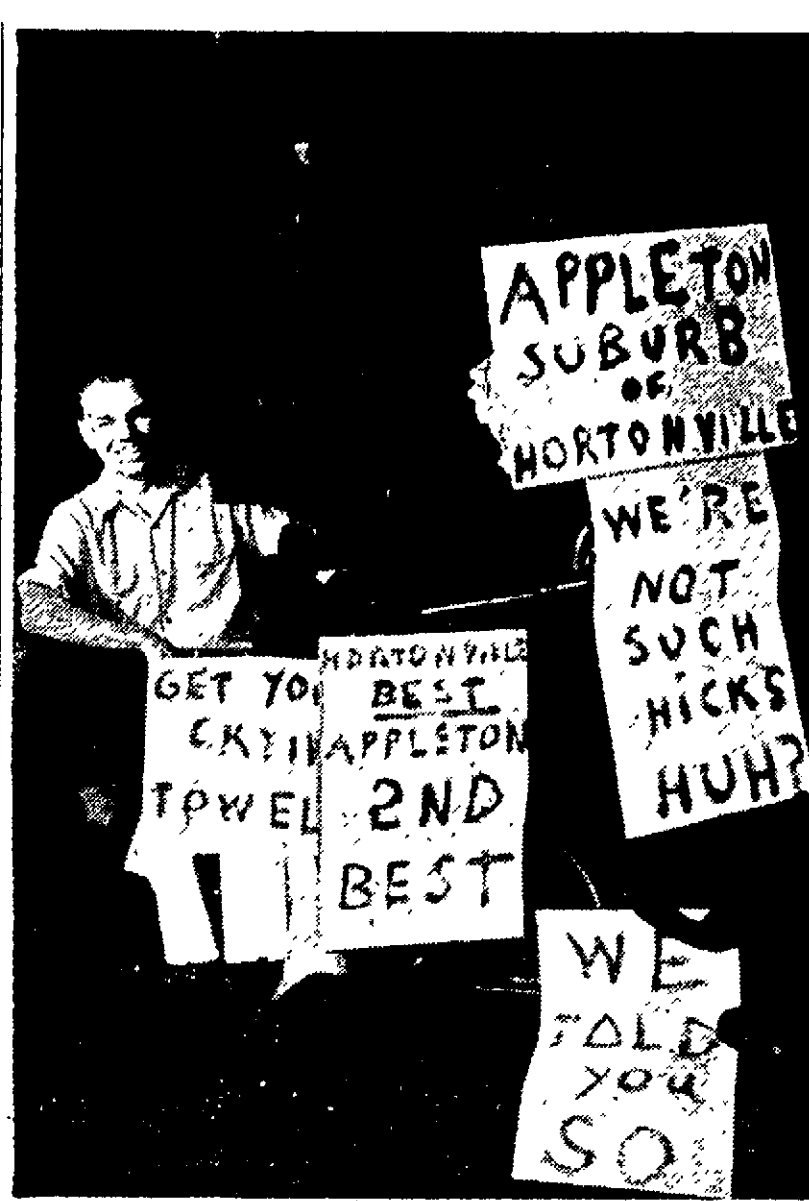

They are the first exhibits in the museum which is being built by the Wisconsin State Historical society. One is a northern type locomotive used by the Milwaukee Road before the railroad converged to Diesel equipment the other a huge Pacific type locomotive obtained from the Soo Line.

The locomotives were moved off a spur line across busy South Broadway avenue on specially constructed tracks into W. D. Cooke park. The park is located along the west bank of the Fox River between Green Bay and De Pere.

Joins Fire Brigade

William F. Anholzer, Kimberly, has been appointed to the Valley Iron Works fire brigade, G. A. Schulte, controller, said today.

The brigade is headed by Chief Paul Muldoon, Assistant Chief Ed Collins and Executive Secretary R. D. DeLand.

Shubert "Bud" Everts, Whose home address is obvious, was a little hoarse this morning but the signs on his linotype machine in the Post-Crescent composing room spoke for him. Greg Hartjes, 100 E. Glendale avenue, an Appleton High school fan who operates the machine next to him, suspected what was in store this morning. He wore protective ear muffs. All this was brought on by Hortonville High school's 65 to 61 win over Appleton in the opening round of the Neenah sectional basketball tournament Friday night. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Heavy Storm Hits Much of New England

While Wisconsin and Fox Cities weather remained comparatively mild today, a wild northeast storm pasted New England with additional heavy snows, tangling power lines, snarling traffic and generally belying the fact that spring was less than a week away.

The Associated Press reported heavy, wet snow measuring up to 22 inches covered Tannersville in the Catskill mountains of New York, 17 1/2 inches blanketed sections of Connecticut and more than 13 inches was on the ground in northwestern New Jersey. The storm was given added ferocity with winds which busted up to 70 m.p.h. in sections of New England Friday and early today. However, temperatures were not severe — mostly around the freezing level.

The New Hampshire Public Service company termed the storm one of the most destructive in its history. All but one of its main power lines was felled. Described as "the worst of the year" for utility lines in Maine, the storm snapped one power line which fell across the Maine turnpike, temporarily halting traffic.

Travel Halted

"Extremely hazardous" driving was reported by Vermont state police, and air, rail and highway traffic was disrupted over a wide area of the northeast.

Back in Wisconsin, light snow fell today at LaCrosse, Wausau, Eau Claire and Grantsburg. It was cloudy over most of the rest of the state.

Appleton had a low of 27 overnight after a high of 35 Friday. The temperature at 10 o'clock this morning was 32 with the wind from the west at 10 miles an hour.

The state forecast calls for mostly cloudy with scattered snow flurries today, tonight and Sunday with little change in temperature. The low tonight will be from 20 to 28 and the high Sunday in the low 30s.

Trout Picture Good In Peterson Creek

Watershed Meeting Told Figures Show There are 496 Fish a Mile In Waupaca County Trout Streams

Waupaca — There are a lot of trout in Peterson creek and officials of the Watershed association can prove it.

Robert Hedding, Oshkosh, Watershed manager, told the group's annual meeting at Scandinavia that electric shocking operations in the stream indicated the trout population is good.

According to Hedding, two shockings were made last year. The first showed 223 brook trout and 36 German browns. The second yielded 133 brookies and 162 browns.

The shocking is done by placing electrodes a short distance apart and temporarily demobilizing the fish with a current.

Trout Per Mile

Tests made in Waupaca county last year in 16 trout streams produced 2,090 trout, Hedding said. The conservation department calculated that there are 496 trout per mile of stream in the county which makes it one of the finest fishing areas in east central Wisconsin.

Two new directors of the Watershed association were elected during the meeting. They are: Donald Peterson and Franklin Carlson.

Officers elected following the meeting were Carlson, president, James Peterson, vice president, and Bill Gilman, secretary-treasurer. Other directors are Herbert Jorgens and Ralph Simonson.

Following a movie on "Marshlands" conservation Warden Rex Oatman told the group that anyone selling minnows must have a license under new state law. Prior to this year only persons doing $500 worth of business had to have a license.

Soil Conservation

John Nimlos, soil conservation agent, congratulated the members and urged that they continue their soil practices and encourage others to do the same.

He said during the last 50 years the area has lost five to six inches of topsoil. This can be stopped, he said, by good conservation practices.

After taking from nature for the past 50 years, using only the best lands and forests, man must put back what he has taken said Professor Fred Schmeckle, Stevens Point State college conservation instructor.

He claimed watershed projects were not just good conservation practices but were a

Grass Is Immortal

By Senator John J. Ingalls

Lying in the sunshine among the buttercups and dandelions of May, scarcely higher in intelligence than the minute tenants of that mimic wilderness, our earliest recollections are of grass, and when the fitful fever is ended, and the foolish wrangle of the market and forum is closed, grass heals over the scar which our descent into the bosom of the earth has made, and the carpet of the infant becomes the blanket of the dead.

Grass is the forgiveness of Nature — her constant benediction. Fields trampled with battle, saturated with blood, torn with the ruts of cannon, grow green again with grass, and carnage is forgotten. Streets abandoned by traffic become grass grown, like rural lanes, and are obliterated. Forests decay, harvests perish, flowers vanish, but grass is immortal.

Beleagued by the sullen hosts of winter, it withdraws into the impenetrable fortress of its subterranean vitality, and emerges upon the first solicitation of spring. Sown by the winds, by wandering birds, propagated by the subtle horticulture of the elements, which are its ministers and servants, it softens the rude outline of the world. Its tenacious fibres hold the earth in its place, and prevent its soluble components from washing into the wasting sea. It invades the solitude of deserts, climbs the inaccessible slopes and forbidding pinnacles of mountains, modifies climates, and determines the history, character, and destiny of nations.

Unobtrusive and patient, it has immortal vigor and aggression. Banished from the thoroughfares and the field, it abides its time to return, and when vigilance is relaxed, or the dynasty has perished, it silently resumes the throne from which it has been expelled, but which it never abdicates. It bears no blazonry of bloom to charm the senses with fragrance or splendor, but its homely hue is more enchanting than the lily or the rose. It yields no fruit in earth or air, and yet should its harvest fail for a single year, famine would depopulate the earth.

Key Conservation Career Men Prepare for Retirement Soon

C. L. Harrington, J. H. H. Alexander Best Known of Those Who Will Go

Madison — Some of the best known career men of the state conservation department service are preparing to go into retirement soon.

A new policy of the state conservation commission has tightened retirement policy in the spirit of 1957 amendments to the state employees retirement act. The commission has said in effect that it will follow the intention of the retirement law, which suggests retirement of civil servants at the age of 65 years. In practice, the commission is granting one year extensions to all who ask for them. The law also permits an indefinite number of one year extensions, at the option of the employing department.

Best Known

Best known among the men who will give up their tasks this summer are C. L. Harrington, long time head of the state forests and parks system, and J. H. H. Alexander, for two decades director of the state's tourist advertising effort.

Other key officials who will depart include Paul Lawrence, manager of the state park at Wyalusing, at the confluence of the Wisconsin and Mississippi rivers, Philip A. Mac Donald, a forest ranger in Vilas county with 46 years of service, Wilbur Barnard, park manager at the St. Croix Falls state park in Polk county, Thomas Kellogg, manager of the Copper Falls state park at Mellen, Glen Champney, manager of the forest tree nursery at Wisconsin Rapids, Arthur Chase, veteran conservation warden at Oshkosh and Leon N. Jensen, hat-

Ducks, Geese Soon Will Fly for North

Upcoming Weeks to Provide Plenty Of Chances to Observe Waterfowl

The first spring arrivals of ducks, geese and swans from wintering grounds in the south can be expected any day, state game managers say.

The buildup is usually rapid and reaches a peak about mid-April.

With the return of waterfowl, hunters are certain to look back to last fall and a duck hunting season which was regarded by many as anything but good. The consensus of many hunters and Wisconsin conservation department fieldmen is that only a small number of waterfowl stopped over in Wisconsin in the 1957 southern migration.

Aerial waterfowl censuses taken biweekly of major points of concentration showed there were 50 per cent fewer ducks and 75 per cent fewer geese than in 1956 which was considered a below average year.

Hunting Pressure

Opening day hunting pressure for all sites was 35 to 49 per cent less than in 1956 but in some areas opening day success was quite a bit above average.

Figures from the conservation department show the cool or mud hen to be an increasingly important part of the consin, applied for retirement pay on March 1 under the disability provisions of the special wardens' pension act. He was one of the senior wardens in the service.

Dean of the administrative staff of the conservation administration is genial, popular C. L. Harrington, now 66, who has headed the state forests and parks program since 1923 and joined the state forest service in 1910.

hunters' bag. There is a wide difference of opinion, however, concerning the coots' table qualities.

Some hunters will question if the bird is even a sporting target. In 1957, however, coot comprised 34 per cent of the hunters' bag on opening day and the first Saturday of the season.

Two Factors

The question in most hunters' minds is "why didn't the ducks stop over in 1957 when the hatching reports from Canada indicated a good number of birds?"

Two factors seem responsible for the decline in waterfowl numbers this past fall. The rainfall in late summer and early fall left many areas dry that normally have at least shallow surface water available. The corn crop in 1957 matured late due to unfavorable weather during planting and early growing season and caused a shortage of food for stubbling ducks and geese.

Although 1957 was below average as far as Wisconsin was concerned an over-all decrease in waterfowl numbers in the Mississippi flyway was not apparent.

Teal Shot at Crandon Was Banded in Dakota

Here's another report on a traveling duck.

A teal shot near Crandon last fall carried a band that had been placed on it in South Dakota last July. Recovery of bands helps in the study of waterfowl migrations and all states and Canada are cooperating in this study.

Seattle Eliminates Dons, 69-67; Kansas State Tips Cincinnati

Notre Dame Stops Indiana '5', Also Gains Regional Finals

By the Associated Press
Seven favorites and dark-horse Seattle square off tonight in the four regional finals of the NCAA basketball championship after a night of thrills that saw one game won at the buzzer on a 35-foot field goal and another—between two of the nation's mightiest teams—settled in overtime.

Here's how they'll line up for tonight's engagements to decide the four contestants for the deciding rounds at Louisville, Ky., March 21-22:
At Charlotte, N. C.—Temple vs. Dartmouth.
At Lexington, Ky.—Notre Dame vs. Kentucky.
At Lawrence, Kan.—Kansas State vs. Oklahoma State.
At San Francisco—Seattle vs. California.

Most Wins Expected
Victories by all except Seattle were more or less expected. But the Chieftains came through as All-America Elgin Baylor, the nation's No. 2 individual scorer, led loose with a 35-foot field shot at the final buzzer to down the San Francisco Dons, best defensive outfit in the country, 69-67.

Cincinnati's All-America Oscar Robertson, leader of the scoring parade, lived up to advance notices at Lawrence but missed a free throw in the final second that would have sent the Bearcats off the floor as the winner. Third-ranked Kansas State went on to down second-ranked Cincinnati, 83-80, in overtime.

Oklahoma State won the right to meet the well-balanced Wildcats from K-State with a routine 65-40 victory over Arkansas. Temple squeaked by Maryland, 71-67, and Dartmouth dumped Manhattan, 78-62, at Charlotte.

Little Trouble
Kentucky had little trouble against Miami of Ohio at Lexington, winning, 94-70, but Notre Dame was pressed before eliminating Indiana, 94-87.

California joined Seattle in the West Coast finals with a 54-43 decision over Idaho State.

With the NCAA university competition down to eight teams, the organization's small college crown in the hands of South Dakota and the NAIA field reduced to two teams, unbeaten Western Illinois and defending champion Tennessee State, the NIT in New York moves back into the picture with four games.

In afternoon clashes, Niagara meets Xavier of Ohio and fourth-seeded Utah takes on St. John of New York, in a nationally televised game (CBS) starting at 4:30 o'clock EST. At night, Fordham plays at St. Francis of Loretto, Pa., and third-seeded St. Bonaventure goes into action against St. Joseph of Philadelphia.

It will be a long time before the 16,382 fans who sat in on the doubleheader at San Francisco's Cow Palace forget the Seattle-San Francisco game.

Baylor Scores 35
There never was more than a 4-point spread and the score was tied eight times, Baylor, who racked up 35 points, was almost unstoppable in the second half.

But another 17,000 fans will swear that the best of them all was at Lawrence. Never more than six points separated Kansas State and Cincinnati.

Big Bob Boozer spearheaded an attack with 15 of his 24 points in the early minutes for K-State. The Bearcats led by Robertson struck back for a 40-39 halftime lead.

With less than a minute remaining, the Big Eight champions drew away from 69-69 deadlock after Cincinnati's Connie Dierking was sidelined by fouls. Robertson, who ended up with 30 points, narrowed the margin to one point, 74-73. He was fouled by Boozer and stepped to the foul line for two shots with one second showing on the clock. He tied the score with the first but missed the second.

Fouls Out
Robertson fouled out a minute after the overtime started and from there on K-State held command with Roy Dewitz scoring seven of the Wildcats' nine points in the overtime.

All-America Guy Rodgers of Temple didn't have one of his best nights but the Owls again demonstrated they are not a 1-man operation as they picked up their twenty-fourth victory. Dartmouth caught Manhattan on a cold shooting night. The Jaspers made only 32.9 per cent of their shots as Dartmouth kept the nets hot. Charlie Kaufman led the Ivy league champs with 22 points.

Kentucky, seeking an unprecedented fourth NCAA title, capitalized on the outside shooting of Johnny Cox to overcome Miami. Cox dropped in 23 points.

Although Tom Hawkins and John McCarthy combined for 60 points, Notre Dame had to survive a late Indiana flurry. McCarthy tallied 29 and Hawkins 31. Indiana's Archie Dees contributed 28 in a losing cause.

South Dakota Wins NCAA College Title

Evansville, Ind.—Jimmie Daniels, who left Brooklyn to play basketball in the wide open spaces of South Dakota, is the hero of the NCAA's college division game tournament.

The ball-hawking, hard-driving Daniels, rattled in 40 points Friday night in leading the South Dakota Coyotes to a 75-53 victory over St. Michael's for the NCAA college championship.

He and his brother, Cliff, both seniors, smashed Vermont school's defense with slashing drives into the basket to gear the lopsided victory.

Cardinals Tip Pirates, 8-5

Joe Cunningham Drives in 4 Runs For St. Louis

(From AP Dispatches)
The St. Louis Cardinals turned back Pittsburgh, 8-5, as Joe Cunningham knocked in four runs in Friday's exhibition baseball action.

Cunningham thumped three hits, in four trips, for St. Louis. The New York Yankees got help from regulars Bill Skowron, Hank Bauer and Gil McDougald to defeat the Cincinnati Redlegs, 5-1. It was only the Bombers' second victory in seven games—both against the Redlegs. Don Larsen allowed only two singles in a 5-inning stint.

Chisox Topped Dodgers
In other games, the Chicago White Sox beat the Los Angeles Dodgers, 3-1, under the arch-lights; the San Francisco Giants trimmed Cleveland, 7-2; Detroit beat Boston, 11-8; Baltimore nipped the Cubs, 7-6; Kansas City defeated Washington, 5-1, and Milwaukee stopped Philadelphia, 8-1.

An error by Don Zimmer, who tossed away a doubleplay ball, enabled the White Sox to pick up two second inning runs for their margin of victory.

Rookie catcher Roger McCordell cracked two homers, one a grand slam, for the Giants. The winners got nifty pitching from Ramon Monzon, Stu Miller and Dom Zanni.

Pace-Setting McCormack Rink Posts 'Tam' Win

The first-place Helen McCormack rink (6-1) defeated Kate Engler (4-4) in this week's feature game of the Tam O'Shanter Curling club's Wednesday event.

The "Cookie" Siebers rink (4-3) won over "Bunny" Phenner (3-4).

In the lone Thursday night event action, Betty Leinwender defeated Siebers.

did the job Friday. Except for a 4-minute stretch late in the third quarter and early in the fourth when Bob Huebner took over for Bob Broehm (who had four fouls), the starters went all the way.

Jump shot specialist Jim Steffen led the villagers with 19 points. He poured in seven of 12 field goal attempts in the first half and then didn't get off a shot as the Polar Bears stalled during the final 16 minutes. Though stretched out on the floor twice—once with a slight ankle sprain and later after getting the wind knocked out of him—Steffen wouldn't quit.

Makes 6 of 8
Guard Dennis Sommers missed five straight shots in the first quarter and then poured in six of the last eight he took. The cool "old pro" (he and Jim Steffen are 3-year varsity regulars) also dumped in 6-for-6 from the free throw line. More important, even, than his scoring contributions was his great dribbling and passing down the stretch which held AHS at bay.

Broehm collected 13 points, making nine of 12 free throws, while Joe Steffen added nine and Don Otto six. The younger Steffen, like Sommers, didn't miss from the foul line. He had seven "makes" in a like number of "takes".
The sensational Jack Ulwelling, who ends a monumental 3-year Terror career in tonight's consolation game, flipped in 22 points for game honors. Ulwelling bullseyed 11 of 20 shots, nine of them from 30 feet, or further, away and the other two of the 20-25 foot variety.

Ulwelling was assigned to guard Jim Steffen after the bespectacled star scored 14 points in the first half. Jack, and Hortonville's stall, limited Steffen to five free throws in the final 16 minutes.

No Appletonian besides Ulwelling was in double figures. Ron Abel, who had scored 42 points in Appleton's three regional games, was held to six free throws. The 6-5 Abel and the 6-4 Tom Verkuilen and Howie Hamann were unable to exercise their usual backboard control against the much smaller—but more aggressive—Polar Bear front line.

Broehm Counters
Appleton scored the game's first six points on a Verkuilen close-in bucket, a looping Ulwelling jumper and a Verkuilen rebound basket. After Broehm countered with a free throw Dick King fired in a jump and it appeared as though a rout might be in the making.

The clubs traded points till it was 14-9 Appleton and then Bill Bedard slipped in a medium jump shot and Dick King a rebound to stretch AHS' lead to 18-9 late in the quarter. Don Otto retaliated with a close basket and a free throw and then Ulwelling pushed in a pair of "picture" long jump shots for the Terrors' largest lead of free throw. That made it 22-19 Appleton with about 6:30 left. The losers stayed out in front until the last 2:30 of the quarter when Hortonville took command. Trailing, 34-31, with about 2:45 left in the half, the Polar Bears scored on a long set shot by Sommers, two Broehm free throws and a Joe Steffen quick-break bucket to grab a 37-34 advantage with 1:09 on the clock.

Hamann hit a close-in fielder but then Jim Steffen countered by driving through the Terror defense to make it 39-36. Bill Bedard's long pusher shaved it to 39-38 Hortonville at the intermission.

Going into their backcourt weave—with Sommers doing most of the ball-handling assisted by the Steffen brothers—Hortonville stayed ahead of the Terrors on free throws. The winners opened a 6-point bulge (50-44) late in the third segment but Ulwelling's three long jumpers got the Terrors back into the ball game (52-50) before the quarter ended.

Nussbaum Ties It
Substitute John Nussbaum's medium-range 1-hander with the clock showing about 7:00, gave the losers their last tie at 54-51.

Working their possession game successfully as the hands of the clock hurried ahead, Hortonville ate up great chunks of fourth period time. Appleton, which drew 23 fouls in the contest to the winners' 15, was not taking chances and using a relatively loose man-for-man against the Bears.

A brace of Jim Steffen foul shots gave the victors a 4-point advantage (61-57) with 1:34 to go but Bedard's sideline push shot shaved it to 61-59 as the crowd roared. King's fifth foul with :49 showing gave Sommers two free throws and Dennis converted both for a 63-59 lead. But, seconds later, Hamann sliced it to 63-61.

Sommers fouled Hamann with 25 seconds remaining and Otto fouled Bedard with :15 showing but neither Terror was able to connect from the gratis line.

MU Coach Wants Security

Nagle Says He Would Accept Prep Position

Milwaukee—Jack Nagle, whose recent surprise resignation as basketball coach at Marquette university will take effect June 30, today indicated that he may accept a high school coaching job.

"I'd like to get into something that has a future and is a lot more stable than college coaching is at present," the spectacular, 40-year-old Nagle told the Associated Press.

"I wouldn't hesitate to go into coaching at a good high school where there is a chance for advancement into the administrative end of education," he added. "I want to work with younger boys."

No Decision Yet
"At the moment I am being considered for some situations and I am considering some. However, I have made no decision yet."

Nagle, who piloted the Warriors to a 24-3 won-loss record and a berth in the NCAA regional basketball tournament in 1954-55, disclosed that he has received three offers of college coaching jobs.

"Two were from small colleges," he said, "and one was from a big college. I wouldn't turn down a college offer if it afforded me the type of security I want for myself and my family. And, by security, I don't mean I want to sit back and take things easy until my pension comes through."

"I can think of nothing better than to spend the next 25 years working with kids. It affords a man a lot of personal satisfaction."

"When I first quit I had a real good job in mind, but I decided to stay in this area. My wife and I want to remain in Wisconsin near enough to Marquette so that I can get back to see them play from time to time. I enjoy Marquette immensely."

Asked if he didn't think a high school coaching job would be a come-down after his five seasons and 69-55 record at Marquette, Nagle replied:

"I've had the big time and having had it, I'll certainly enjoy the other, too. There are other compensations."

flashes of the second half of the game as he got his team ready for its tussle with East.

The Appleton dressing room atmosphere was gloomy — as might well be expected with all hopes of a second state meet trip in three years quashed — but it wasn't morbid. The Polar Bear performance didn't catch the Terrors by nearly as much surprise as it did some outsiders who had discounted Hortonville merely on the basis of the size of its enrolment. The Terrors had scrimmaged Hortonville two months ago and knew they had an all-out battle on their hands.

Coach Dick Emanuel praised the Terrors' play and said "they lost to a good ball club." He said there was nothing "unexpected in Hortonville's style of play. He felt his team shot very well against the Polar Bear zone (and the field goal charts bear him out). But, he said the Terrors couldn't get out in front in the second half to play their game, and he estimated that his team didn't own the ball for much more than four minutes in the last two periods.

Both games lived up to the advance billing, and a turn-away crowd of about 3,200 was treated to an evening of rare excitement. The second game couldn't quite "follow" the great first act, but East's gallant comeback in the fourth quarter produced plenty of court dynamite.

The World Series - like ticket scarcity affected even the standing-room seekers. Several hundred persons were turned away because there was no place left to put them. Every ticket, with the exception of those for standing-room space, was for both nights.

Reputations mean little or nothing in basketball — each player has to prove himself anew in every game. And, the four all-Fox River Valley conference performers who saw action proved they weren't over-rated. Appleton's Jack Uweiling, Manty's Bill Nelson, and East's Tom Hughbanks and By Prentice all scored niftily and in other ways played high-grade ball.

Hortonville's Jim Steffen earned special plaudits for his skilled play. Despite banging up an ankle in the first quarter, he played the route, sinking some vital jump shots and dribbling artistically to help his team's freeze succeed.

Despite giving away height to the three tallest Terrors, the Polar Bears outbounced AHS by an unofficial 33 to 23 margin. Position was the key to their success.

It's pretty much of a moot question as to whether the players or the rooters used up more energy during the evening. The cheering sections not only added color to the spectacle but provided an outlet for the tension which settled over the premises early in the evening and thickened as each game neared the wire. Many of the neutral or non-partisan fans in the first games lent their vocal support to the Hortonville team. It was a switch for the Terrors, who in their appearance in the 1956 sectional, were the "people's choice" because they were in a dark-horse role. This time, AHS, "rated" big school, was favored by the odds over Hortonville, a rated small school.

The officiating in the two games was something of a contrast. Orr Perry and Rudy Prucha, in the opener, called 'em close — allowing virtually no contact to go unwhistled. Gene Calhoun and Steve Slatery in the nightcap, gave the boys more "room" to play and called the plays a lot looser.

The two losers shared heart-breaking experiences in their desperate bids to tie the games. Appleton missed two free throws in the waning seconds when it trailed by only two points. And, East, trailing by two, with about 1:30 left had five or six cracks at a rebound basket but couldn't drop it through. Seemingly burned out from that unfruitful effort, East gave up five fast insurance points at the end.

Among the visiting "firemen" at the game were coaches Gil Frank, Kimberly; Gerry Hopfensperger. Kaukauna; Bruce Fossum, Green Bay West, and Ron Nord, Oshkosh. Neenah's Ole Jorgensen was also on hand but his duties as one of the meet administrators kept him from seeing as much of the play as he would have liked.

This will be the first time in eight years that the Menasha-Appleton - Kimberly regional champion will not be represented in the state tournament.

Appleton's 6-5 Ron Abel Is Getting a stiff argument for possession of the ball in this segment of action from Friday night's 65-61 Hortonville win over the Terrors in the first round of the Neenah Sectional. 3 Braves' Pitchers Combine for 4-Hitter

Rush, Spahn, Pizarro Hurl
8-1 Triumph Over Phillies

By the Associated Press

Milwaukee Manager Fred Haney has added some new and solid ingredients to a pitching recipe that helped carry the Braves to their first world championship last season.

The recipe: Take the strong starting pitchers, Warren Spahn, Lew Burdette, Bob Buhl and Gene Conley... sprinkle with a touch of fine relievers, Don McMahon and Ernie Johnson... add some exceptional youngsters, Juan Pizarro, Carleton Willey, Bob Trowbridge and Joey Jay... and sweeten the mixture with some components obtained from Chicago, Bob Rush and Don Kaiser.

Some National league managers and club officials hollered loud and long when the Braves acquired Rush and Kaiser from the Cubs in a 5-play deal last Dec. 5. In Rush, they claimed, Milwaukee picked up a durable veteran right-hander who would make the Braves much tougher to beat in 1958.

And they probably knew what they were yelling about. For, the 32-year-old winner of 110 big league ball games is showing up well in the early exhibition games.

Allowed One Hit

Yesterday, Rush gave up only one hit in three scoreless innings as the Braves trounced the Philadelphia Phillies, 8-1. Spahn also worked three scoreless frames while Pizarro yielded the only Phil's tally on a home run by Harry Anderson.

Spahn, who worked the first three innings and was the winner, and Rush, working the middle innings, allowed only a hit each. The Phillies collected their two other hits off Pizarro.

The Braves banded only seven hits but a pair of errors by Wally Post helped three Milwaukee runs cross the plate. One of the Milwaukee hits was a solo homer by Carl Sawatski in the third to get the scoring started.

Hits by Bob Hazle, making his first spring start, and Wes Covington helped Milwaukee to a pair of runs in the fourth. Three runners crossed the plate in the fifth as Mel Roach started things with a single.

Rush was safe on a sacrifice bunt and fielder's choice and he and Roach advanced on an out and scored when Post dropped Hazle's easy fly. Hazle scored on a single by Mathews. All the runs were charged to Bob Conley, the loser.

Two More Runs
A single by Larry Click and an interference call on Philadelphia catcher Mack Burk that sent Earl Hersh to first started Milwaukee on the way to two more runs in the eighth. A single by Casey Wise and an infield out allowed the runners to go home.

Pizarro made only one major mistake and that was when he served a home run ball to Harry Anderson, the first man he faced. Philadelphia didn't get another threat going until the ninth when Burk walked with one away and Bob Bowman doubled. But Pizarro struck out Frank Herrera and Ted Kazanski popped up to end the game.
